Project Cost Supporting Docs

Each subsequent page corresponds to one budget line item. The page header shows:

- Reference number (E##)
- Short line-item label
- Budget allocated (CAD)
- Reason the spend is needed

Engineering labor (integrations)

Contracted engineers to build the POS and labor integrations. Specialists in Flutter, Dart, Toast POS API, and 7shifts API handle the heavy implementation work so Said stays in the architect seat.

Trademark filing (Forge & Flow)

Canadian trademark registration with CIPO (Canadian Intellectual Property Office) for the 'Forge & Flow' brand, using Heer Law as the IP agent for filing and legal review.

respond to.

If a third party opposes your approved trademark application during the advertisement period, a trademark opposition proceeding commences. While relatively rare (about 2% of applications are opposed), trademark oppositions are quasi-judicial proceedings which can entail significant costs in the tens (and occasionally hundreds) of thousands of dollars if fully fought out between the parties. A successful trademark opposition proceeding will secure the allowance of your trademark application. If you choose not to defend a trademark opposition, this will lead to your trademark application being deemed abandoned (but will not incur additional costs).

As an opposition by a third party will well exceed any initial budget you had set for registering your trademark, it is typically worthwhile to seek a trademark search and opinion from a registered trademark agent or trademark lawyer to assess the risk of conflict in adopting and using a trademark in Canada. This is a valuable way to manage and reduce your risk of facing a trademark opposition during the trademark application process. To learn more about what a trademark search entails, visit our resource on conducting a trademark search in Canada.

Taxes

Professional fees are taxable in Canada such that HST or GST is payable based on the rate in the province or territory in which you, as the client, operates your business. It does not matter if the law firm providing the service to your business is in a different province. And if your business is located outside of Canada, there is no tax on professional fees.

If you are required to collect and remit sales taxes to the Canada Revenue Agency, the sales tax Canadian businesses pay on professional services is offset against the sales tax you collect when selling your goods and services. Thus, sales tax may not be considered a business expense.

There is no tax on official fees paid to the Canadian Intellectual Property Office.

Just Tell Me the All-In Cost Already

Most trademarks can be registered in Canada for somewhere between $2000-$4000 CAD (exclusive of tax) spread out over a period of two or more years.

Like with many types of services, you get what you pay for with professional service firms.

Low-cost options are nearly always low service and/or low expertise options, which can lead to undesirable outcomes and negatively impact the value of your business, such as:

- refused applications;
- defective registrations; and
- trademark rights of lesser or little value.

SaaS growth coaching (Dan Martell)

Screenshot 1 of 2

Dan Martell's SaaS Academy - 12-month founder coaching program covering scaling playbooks, peer mentorship, and growth frameworks from founders who've built profitable SaaS companies.

GROWTH ACCELERATOR PROGRAM

Build Your SaaS Growth Engine

For founders between $0 to $120k ARR

The Growth Accelerator Program is specifically designed for early-stage founders that have a product, focused on validating your SaaS product and hitting your first $120k in ARR. With a laser focus on market validation, ideal customer identification, and establishing a sustainable go-to-market strategy, this program accelerates your journey from startup to a self-sustaining business.

Apply Now

What is the Growth Accelerator Program?

Growth Accelerator Program is where startup SaaS founders come to build the foundation needed for consistent, recurring revenue. We focus on three key areas: market validation, customer acquisition, and achieving product-market fit. Our step-by-step roadmap guides you from idea to revenue, helping you secure your first $120k ARR and setting the stage for scalable growth.

As part of this program, you'll gain access to exclusive online events, a rich library of resources, and a community of like-minded founders all working towards the same goal.

1. Dan Martell

Dan Martell provides SaaS-focused coaching for founders looking to scale beyond early traction and build more leveraged, repeatable growth systems. His coaching is designed for B2B SaaS companies with a validated product and existing revenue, typically starting at $10K or more in monthly recurring revenue.

The coaching process typically begins with an application and an initial strategy call to assess fit and identify growth constraints. Programs focus on building frameworks that help founders scale without being tied to day-to-day operations.

Key components of Dan Martell's SaaS coaching include:

- Growth & Strategy Assessment: Identify what is working in your SaaS business and where the bottlenecks are.
- Revenue & Pricing Frameworks: Review pricing, positioning, and recurring revenue models to optimize growth.
- Operational & Team Scaling: Build systems and processes that allow the company to grow independently of the founder.
- Founder Leverage: Work on decision-making, delegation, and leadership skills to maximize impact.

Pricing is not publicly listed, and interested founders must complete an application or schedule an introductory call to learn more.

Google Play Developer - one-time registration fee required to publish the Android app in Google Play. Non-negotiable platform requirement for Android distribution.

Business insurance

Business insurance - general liability coverage and cyber liability protection to cover any operational or data-breach risk as we take on restaurant customers.

Technology errors and omissions insurance

SaaS companies pay an average of $91 per month, or $1,094 annually, for tech E&O insurance. This policy bundles errors and omissions insurance with cyber insurance at a lower cost than buying the policies separately.

Errors and omissions insurance, also known as professional liability insurance, provides financial protection against claims of professional negligence. For example, if there's downtime when a client needs your services, the result could be a lawsuit.

Tech E&O adds third-party cyber insurance to this coverage, which extends protection in case your mistake or oversight leads to a data breach or cyberattack on a client's business.

This is the average E&O insurance for SaaS professionals who buy from Insureon:

Insurance premium: $91 per month

Policy limits: $1 million per occurrence; $1 million aggregate

Deductible: $2,500

The cost of errors and omissions insurance depends on factors such as the coverage limits you choose, the size of your business, and the SaaS products or services you offer.

Cyber insurance

IT companies and contractors pay an average of $153 per month, or $1,837 per year, for cyber insurance. This policy is vital for businesses that store customer data, such as credit card numbers, Social Security numbers, and email addresses.

Cyber insurance covers the cost of complying with your state's data breach laws after a cyber incident. It can pay for legal fees, customer notification costs, and data recovery efforts related to a data breach or cyberattack. You may also see this policy referred to as cyber liability insurance or cybersecurity insurance.

The cost of cyber insurance depends on your cyber risks and the amount of personal information handled by your software company.
